($48) Bright ruby. Pure, expressive raspberry and red cherry aromas show a strong mineral underpinning. Huge red fruit and herb flavors are supported by a smoky, mineral quality.

Has a texture of liquid silk, with high but harmonious acidity giving shape to the flavors.

Conveys a deft touch, finishing with fine-grained tannins and persistent notes of milk chocolate, coffee and toffee. 93 points

($45) Deep amber-gold. Singular nose offers exaggerated aromas of saffron, ripe peach, papaya, quince and even hot buttered popcorn. Bright and fresh on the palate and crammed with fruit flavors of apricot, peach and citrus; not especially sweet owing to its fine acidity. The extremely long finish displays considerable tannic bite and a trace of heat. This saffron bomb, made by Andrea Franchetti, who is famous for his cult wine Tenuta di Trinoro from Tuscany, is a unique taste experience. (T. Edward Wines, New York, NY) 91 points
